Troubleshooting

Problem	Possible Cause	What To Do
No Ozone	Fan Malfunction	If the fan has decreased in speed you will have less ozone produced. If the fan quits completely you will not get any ozone production. Replace Fan (Check Voltage)
	Bad Plates	If you have no ozone, it is most likely due to oxidization on the ozone plate. The plates will only glow purple in some spots or not at all. Fix with replacement 3.5G/hour plates .
	Transformer	If you have had this unit for a while there is a higher chance of this malfunction, but this malfunction isn't normal. Replace transformer.
Low Ozone	Bad Plates	You will see purple glowing in some parts of the plate, but not all will be glowing. Fixed with replacement 3.5G/hour plates .
No Power	Bad Fuse	First, check plug outlet. If problem persists, check the fuse holder that is located next to the power cord.
